IN SPACE NO ONE CAN HEAR YOU SLAY

Captain Ruby Harlow and her father get a killer deal on a pre-owned spaceship with a dark history. Desperate to leave a dying earth for the final frontier, Ruby and her wife overlook the ship's lousy attitude and nasty bat infestation. But then a bloody ghost starts tormenting their only fembot and the harassment goes unreported. Despite all these problems, the captain leads a glorious launch.

Later, with the entire crew in cryo, the haunted spaceship strays off course, then suddenly wakes everyone. Unable to return to hypersleep, Ruby and her crew discover they are years away from anything other than a mysterious comet.

Soon, the endless isolation of deep space starts wearing on Ruby's father. After a severe seizure, Bob becomes increasingly hostile and paranoid. Before long, he starts believing the ship's doctor is Dracula. He might be right, but proving it will drive him to the brink of madness.

Are they really trapped in space with vampires?

Was Bob chosen to be the slayer?

Or will he become the real monster?

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Ava Lock is the bestselling author of Alpha Bots. She is also an award-winning satirist and avid film geek who lives near Philadelphia with her husband and two felines, Bender and Bixby. She enjoys cooking, hunting for bargains at flea markets, and collecting rocks, fossils, and crystals.
